Holly's music not fade away

Richie Lee 27 years old from Des Moines, Iowa, was singing almost before he could talk. At the age of 7 he won a Buddy Holly look alike lip sync contest in Des Moines Iowa, sponsored by KJJY Radio. His interest in Buddy Holly began at the age of 6, listening to CD's.

He began taking guitar lessons at age 11 and drums at age 12. Richie has performed on stage with Winter Dance Party Drummer Carl Bunch, Holly Backup singers the Roses, The Tolletts, Larry Welborn, and friend, the Legendary Peggy Sue Geron as well as Tommy Allsup.

When Richie first heard Buddy Holly's music, he was instantly inspired! It's like his music stuck out more than anybody else's on the radio. Richie has played with many Iowa Rock 'n Roll Hall of Fame bands. He has played 14 ballrooms by the age of 16 and been recognized nationally. He has also gone as far as Boston to play a couple of shows with the Drifters and last summer to Memphis for Elvis Tribute. He has been on shows with many famous people, too many to mention.

At 11 years old sang to Peggy Sue and Jaymee Lynn, then again at 17 years old at the Surf Ballroom, Clear Lake, Iowa in February.

"It's a dream come true"

Performing Holly's music at '50s style dances and clubs. The band's ability to get the crowd dancing can be traced to Lee's drive to stay true to the original songs. He even has the same guitar his favorite artist, Buddy Holly, played: a 1955 Fender Stratocaster. "I like everything perfect," Lee said. His parents' tastes drew him to classic rock 'n roll. "My parents always listened to it, and I kind of adapted to it," Lee said. "I really like the style of music. And it's fun to play, too."
